OUR SCHOOLS

Glendale Well Supplied with Buildings and Teachers — The Latter Rank High for Scholarship and Proficiency — Good Work Being Accomplished

A community, such as Glendale, composed of a superior class of homemakers, would naturally demand and create those fundamental features essential in the building of an ideal city, foremost among which and largely indicative of the moral and mental tone of the population, are the schools. With these Glendale is, in proportion to the population well supplied. Of the three school buildings, which are now all practically new this paper has spoken at various times. Congratulations upon the achievement of having given to Glendale so handsome and up-to-date a high school building may properly be accorded the trustees of the Glendale Union High School district, consisting of the following representative men: Daniel Campbell, president, West Glendale District; E. D. Goode, clerk, Glendale District; A. W. Collins, Tropico District; Samuel Merrill, Jr., Crescenta District; J. Q. Adams, Eagle Rock District; W. M. Adland, Washington Park District.

The Glendale Union High School aims to maintain a high standard of scholarship, integrity of character, and physical development, the various departments offering a splendid and well-balanced system of approved culture along these lines, which cannot be described at this time. However, the courses of study outlined in the school manual and the work required of pupils is fully up to the highest standard in the country. Especially commendable is the commercial course in which students are fitted for filling practical positions in the business world. The creditable school paper published monthly furnishes a desirable incentive to literary work and the requirement of each pupil to furnish during the year a speech or some school exercise tends towards giving ease and confidence of manner in addition to the benefit derived from the literary work involved.

The regularly classified school library offering the best late magazines and containing nearly two thousand volumes, including books of reference is an unestimated educational factor.

The gymnasium work, regularly required of all students for purposes of recreation and for gaining a well developed physique, and the athletic work, in which Glendale has won many laurels and which teaches self control and promotes a spirit of courtesy and justice towards opponents, are desirable features of the school life.

The trustees have displayed a discriminating wisdom in selecting a splendidly trained corps of instructors, who, in the various branches included in the specified courses, are unusually well equipped and have specialized in each department.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB.

Owing to the inclemency of the weather there was rather a small attendance at the club meeting this week. Those present were rewarded by a good program along educational lines. The speakers of the day were Dr. R. E. Chase on "A Few Hints on the Hygiene of Childhood," and Mrs. Nanno Woods on "Kindergarten."

Dr. Chase in his paper gave many good points for the mothers of the little ones and also many things we all might profit by.

He laid especial stress on the proper dress for the little ones, proper amount of underwear and long stockings being the two things particularly mentioned. The result of danger from improperly clothed feet and legs is greater than one realizes.

In speaking of the moral side Dr. Chase spoke especially of the lessons in obedience that must be given from earliest childhood up, and also self-control must be taught.

A child often asks the reason why a certain order is given. This reason should be given if possible and be explained to the little one, for by this means the habit of reasoning is developed and this helps in the proper growth of the child.

In conclusion Dr. Chase spoke of the public schools how they are the guardians of the weak and what good guardians they ought to be, for the minds of children are plastic and respond only too easily to evil influences.

Mrs. Woods in her talk about the kindergarten gave us something about how she carries on the work.

The children come there and do things that some people think are foolish, but Mrs. Woods assured us that under all this the little ones are continually learning something although they do not realize it. The kindergarten aims to develop the mental, moral and physical side by side.

Each day the children follow out a definite line of work that has been previously mapped out, with their recess for outdoor play, and twice a few minutes nap.

Mrs. Woods said the children were happy to come to the kindergarten for there they met playmates of their own age and there they also had something definite to do, and they as well as the teacher are always sorry when noon comes.

Altogether the whole program for the afternoon was a very delightful and instructive one.

Rev. George Eley's condition is still serious, although friends are hopeful that if no set-back occurs he will soon be able to get about again.

Mr. J. M. Banker and wife, Miss Ruth Byram and Mrs. S. M. Galloway attended the concert of the Ellis Club at the Simpson Auditorium Tuesday night last.

The report of the tax collector shows over $4000 paid in on account of taxes thus far, which as they do not become delinquent for six weeks yet, is a creditable showing.

Remember the supper to be given by the ladies of St. Marks Guild Thursday evening at Guild Hall. It's on the cafeteria plan and you need only pay for what you get.

The Central Market on Brand Boulevard has passed into the hands of Messrs. Eachus and McKee, the latter gentlemen having purchased the interest of Mr. Bennington who has gone to Omaha, Neb.

Mr. O. A. Lane, of 1017 Chestnut St., left last week for San Francisco and Oakland, where he will remain for three or four weeks in the interest of the Los Horcones Sugar Co. of Mexico, which he represents.

City engineer, Edward M. Lynch, is properly rejoiced over the arrival at his home on Damasco Court last Saturday of a fine little girl who is apparently pleased with Glendale and promises to grow up with the city.

Mr. Slem, gardner of the Sanitarium, having taken up the marguerites that for so long a time made the parkway in front of that institution attractive, is now planting the same space to ivy geraniums which will soon render it as attractive as before.

Mr. M. LaTora, father of Mrs. C. H. Eudemiller, arrived in Glendale last week from Chicago and is stopping with his daughter and family on Sixth street. He is greatly pleased with Glendale and if he can dispose of his property in Chicago, he will probably locate here.

The committee appointed by Mayor Watson to interview Mr. H. E. Huntington in regard to the Fourth street franchise, had a pleasant half hour with that gentleman the early part of the week, and secured his promise to come to Glendale at an early day to look over the situation.

Mrs. Sarah Pitcher, whose husband was a member of one of the first classes turned out by the University of Southern California, has received a special invitation to be present at a dinner to be given by the Alumni next week, an unusual compliment, testifying to the high regard in which Mr. Pitcher was held.

The sidewalk on the east side of Glendale avenue below Fourth street has been put down to grade by having the dirt hauled away, but it is understood that it will not be further improved at present, which is a matter of regret to the public at large and indicates the lack of a proper public spirit on the part of some one.

Mrs. Howes, who managed so successfully the entertainment given by the children for the W. C. T. U. the other evening, at the opera house, is a personal friend of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Gaylord, who formerly knew her and her husband in Michigan. Mr. Howes is drilling a large company of gentlemen and ladies for the Cantata of "Queen Esther," which will be given at Pasadena on the 18th and 20th.

At the Country Club last Monday evening the regular monthly card party took place and was enjoyed by those present. The regular dance comes off on Saturday evening the 27th. It is a cause of regret to many that for the present the monthly "Smokers" have been dropped. They were easily the best thing that the club has done and as a "Get Together" proposition were unsurpassed.

Mr. Albert F. Leavitt and wife from Sacramento, have been spending part of the past week with Mr. Leavitt's uncle, Edgar Leavitt, Esq., and his wife at their home on First street. In the intervals they have visited other parts of Southern California as far south as San Diego. Mr. Leavitt holds a position on the steamer Modoc plying between San Francisco and Sacramento.

ROBBERY AND ATTEMPTED MURDER ON THE SAN FERNANDO ROAD.

Frank Fontana and his son have been living on a place belonging to Mr. Pupka at Burbank for about a year past. Not much was known of them, but if the story told by Pete Von Koffski is true, they are a pair of bad citizens. Saturday of last week, he says, he was hired by Fontana to work on the ranch for $30 per month. When evening came they treated him to wine which he alleges was drugged, as it quickly deprived him of his senses. Along about 8 o'clock the father, son and Von Koffski started for Los Angeles in a wagon. When near the Brand pumping plant on the San Fernando road, the Italians attacked Von Koffski, stabbed him, shot him three or four times, robbed him of everything valuable and left him for dead. He was still conscious, he claims, when they left and believes that nothing saved him except that they felt sure he was dead. When they left him, he was able to secure assistance and was taken to Dr. Thompson's hospital at Burbank, where he still remains and will not doubt recover, although his injuries are serious. Constable Catlin was notified and sought all day Sunday for the two men. Sunday night the elder was caught at the Burbank station just as he was about to get aboard a train. The boy has not been found. Fontana was brought before Justice Melrose at Tropico on Wednesday and held to appear for trial, when it is expected that his victim will be able to appear against him.

GLENDALE DYE WORKS — William Lewis, proprietor; next to Woods' Hotel, Brand boulevard. The rain has come and he (or she) who is wise will now get ready for the winter. Get out your last year's suit and let us make it look like new. Our work is good and the price right. Orders attended to promptly. Give us a trial. Call up eithhr phone and our wagon will come for your order.

"CINDERELLA IN FLOWER LAND."

This entertainment which was presented at the opera house last Friday and Saturday evenings by Mrs. Howes for the benefit of the W. C. T. U. Fountain fund, was fully as good as was promised and appreciation was shown by the large audiences which were in attendance both evenings. The stage had to be enlarged to afford space for the juvenile actors, but was still too small to afford room for the graceful evolutions through which the children moved in harmony with the music, but with this exception everything was all that could be desired. That such a successful effect could be produced out of new material in the comparatively short time allowed Mrs. Howes to accomplish it indicates that she has not only talent for this particular work but has had the experience which enables her to work to the best advantage. The operetta is a happy adaptation of the wholesome story of Cinderella and allows of a pleasing display of varied colors in the way of costumes which was made the most of and kept a pleasing picture before the audience at all times when the curtain was up. The acting of the little folks was excellent and the singing generally good.

BUSINESS ON THE SALT LAKE LINE.

Mr. Atkinson, agent here of the Salt Lake Company, reports that while carload shipments are not as heavy as formerly (the citrus fruit season being about at an end) there is a continued increase in the number of smaller shipments and that business continues to be good. He has received a letter from the general manager of the company, announcing that an additional passenger train is to be put on between Salt Lake City and Los Angeles, beginning December 1. It will leave Salt Lake at 9 a. m. daily, arriving at Los Angeles at 10 a. m. the day following. Leave Los Angeles at 2 p. m., arriving in Salt Lake at 4 p. m. the next day.

AT THE CITY HALL.

The carpenters have been at work part of the past week in separating the different city officials as well as possible by numerous compartments and board partitions so that the stranger having business at the municipal headquarters can distinguish the various officials without the necessity for personal labels. The community will rejoice that there is less occasion than formerly for "mix-ups" that might interfere with the harmony of the various incumbents.

ANOTHER LECTURE BY MR. MORRIS.

Mr. John A. Morris, who lectured last Sunday afternoon at Odd Fellows Hall, speaks again tomorrow (Sunday) at the same hour and place. GLENDALE, CAL., NOVEMBER 13, 1909

The North Pole has been the fruitful cause of the loss of much property and many lives and now it is causing men on both sides of a great controversy to perjure themselves. It seems to us that it ought to be abolished!

The woman who has had six husbands and now declares that there shall be "no more matrimony" for her, is certainly qualified to pose as an expert. She should be deported to Thibet where polyandry is legalized and her merits would be recognized.

At a little town in Mexico the other day the people from the Governor down, turned out to honor a humble hero named Garcia, by dedicating a monument to his memory. By pulling two blazing cars laden with dynamite out of a mine, he saved the lives of scores of his fellows and then when the act was done, was blown into nothingness, except the splendid soul of him.

Realizing rather late in life that he had mistaken his vocation, Mr. George C. White of Nevada, entered the Drake university at Des Moines, Ia., and graduated at the age of 47. Now he is a student at Yale and expects to graduate there when he is 50. Examples of this kind are numerous enough to show the baselessness of the Osler theory and to indicate that the passage of years alone does not limit the possibilities of usefulness in the world.

The primary election under the new law occurred in Los Angeles Wednesday last. It resulted as we announced last week it probably would, in the selection of present Mayor Alexander and W. J. Smith as the nominees to be voted on for mayor at the December election. Mr. Mushet fell behind Smith only about 60 votes. Although claimed as a great triumph by the supporters of the new law, we fail to see that it settled anything in particular.

The many friends of ex-Sheriff John Burr, heard with sorrow of the serious accident of which he was the victim the other night when an automobile in which he and some friends were riding jumped into a lamp post as they pulled out of the roadway to escape a flying racer. But road racing has to have its victims and the race from Los Angeles to Phoenix was a great success. How many victims were left in the wake of the flying cars may never be known; cripples and corpses are only unpleasant incidents in these affairs.

UNGALLANT GROSSCUP.

Judge Grosscup of Chicago told a woman's club the other day that they cannot succeed as theologians, lawyers or merchants except in rare instances. The judge, however, has retired from the field of politics, otherwise we doubt if he would have had the courage to express his convictions.

There can be little difference of opinion, however, as to the truth of his concluding remarks:

"I'll tell you what woman can do. The feminine mind is the complement of the masculine. With but one of them in existence, the world would soon become a dreary place of existence, and in a few generations its population would disappear."

T. E. Gibbon, editor of the Los Angeles Herald, has sued the Record for libel, committed when it published the assertion that Gibbon and Earl of the Express "attempted to purchase perjured testimony." Mr. Gibbon will never get the amount he sues for, but he is doing a good public service in attempting to make reckless writers more careful in regard to making libelous statements.

Newspapers, however, are necessarily more careful in regard to making assertions which cannot be proved, than are individuals in ordinary conversation. In regard to public officials one can hear accusations made every day in ordinary conversation which have no basis other than mere suspicion. The habit of "muck-raking" has become so prevalent that we rejoice to see citizens like Mr. Gibbon take action which will compel either writer or speaker of scandalous things to weigh his words with care.

THE EUCALYPTUS TREE FAD AND OTHERS.

The present interest taken in the culture of the eucalyptus tree on a large scale, is doubtless a revival worked up by enterprising nursery men. The eucalyptus is a tree of great value to Southern California, but its culture is nearly as delusive as the hen business. Within the writer's recollection there have been in Los Angeles county for the past twenty-five years many similar campaigns for the exploitation of certain trees and fruits, which profited always the nurseryman and deluded generally the experimenter. Raisin making at one time caused the planting of many acres in Muscat grapes; hundreds of acres were planted to that rank delusion, the Adriatic fig tree; olives had a great boom; the silk-worm business was the lure that caught many and made a demand for mulberry trees and the eucalyptus tree fad had its brief season. So history repeats itself; the wily nurseryman will bear watching.

JUDGE ROSS FOR THE SUPREME COURT.

Friends of Judge Erskine M. Ross are exerting themselves to induce President Taft to appoint him to fill the vacancy in the Supreme Court of the United States, caused by the death of Judge Peckham. Judge Ross was appointed judge of the Southern California district by President Cleveland and later was promoted to be Circuit Judge. He has rendered several notable decisions and established an enviable reputation for fairness and integrity. That he is perfectly fearless in the performance of duty was shown by his decisions against the riotous strikers during the railroad troubles some 15 years ago. He is a man of unusual modesty and shrinks from publicity, caring nothing whatever for the glare of the limelight. We never heard of his officiating in any public capacity save strictly in the way of duty. The Supreme Court of the United States will lose nothing of its high character and reputation by admitting to a place in its councils Judge Erskine M. Ross, one of the real pioneers of Glendale.

THE RESPONSIBILITY OF PARENTS.

Prof. Van Dyke of Princeton university, writing in Scribner's Magazine, says that the fact is apparent that the poorest work done in the colleges is by the students from the higher circles of society, the youth who would naturally be considered as those having the best chance in life. He attributes the cause of it to the parents, whose principal object in regard to their children is to so fill their lives with pleasure that when they grow up accustomed to doing invariably what they want to do, they are unable to do the thing they should do at any particular moment. "It is not luxury which threatens them, but an incapacity for work, fostered and even trained, by the willingness of parents to let them follow always the lines of least resistance." The harm he believes which comes from shirking all unpleasant effort and demanding a constant round of petty excitement is considered by him as more serious than that which comes from the surrender to vicious appetites. The views expressed by Prof. Van Dyke are entitled to serious consideration by parents. The evil indicated by what he says is one that will grow with the increasing wealth of the people and is bound to have its affect upon the character of the generation now coming on and those that are to follow, unless checked by an entire change in the methods of parents who foster habits of self-indulgence in those things which are the objects of a passing desire.

ARE THE "INSURGENTS" REPUBLICANS?

The Los Angeles Times is very much afraid that the Republican party is in danger from insidious attacks by those whom it is pleased to call "Insurgents." The Times has no just cause for alarm. The real principles underlying the Republican party are not in danger from attack without or within. It may be that the temporary leaders of the party will go down to defeat because they do not understand, or choose for their individual interests to misinterpret those principles, but the principles are permanent and the party representing them will not yet pass away. There are two questions which in one form or another are always thrusting themselves to the front in national politics; these are the money question and the tariff. In regard to these two questions the position of the Republican party cannot be misunderstood by any one familiar with recent political history in the United States. The position of the so-called insurgents in regard to these two questions is as purely Republican as that of the rankest protectionist in the party. But because Senators Cummins, Bristow, Dolliver, Beveridge and others do not regard recent and present tariff schedules as perfect and insist upon a reduction in some particulars, the hide-bound partisans of the Uncle Joe Cannon stripe pretend to believe that the citadel of Republicanism is assailed. There never will be a perfect tariff bill, but there is no good reason why a Republican who sees the imperfections of the present one, should cease to agitate the matter and seek to arouse public sentiment to such an extent, that the people shall demand that as soon as possible the glaring inconsistencies of the present law should be removed and that representatives in the congress of the United States should legislate for the United States and not for South Carolina or California. The "insurgent" senators are as good Protectionists as are any of the "Stand-Pat" element in the party. A mere politician may be expected to advocate the increase of a tariff schedule which is already high enough for protection, but the statesman is wise enough and just enough to even favor a decrease in the same schedule if the facts seem to warrant it. Because a Republican in California believes for instance that the tariff on lemons was high enough in the Dingley bill for the protection of the industry, he is not guilty of any heinous crime nor any the less a Republican, if he believes that that schedule should not have been increased. President Taft himself advocated long before his election as president the precise principle for which the insurgents stand, stating his belief that certain tariff schedules were too high. The one vital principle of the Republican party after all is the old one of the greatest good to the greatest number, and the party is departing from that principle when it fails to consider the interests of the consumer and attempts to legislate for the very few producers of any commodity at the general expense.

A WORD IN REPLY TO FATHER O'NEILL.

Editor Glendale News:

The article last week in your esteemed paper by Rev. O'Neill, whom personally I regard highly, caused me to give a hugh laugh. This little squib is not for the purpose of controversy, that time has since long passed, but to correct a few errors or wrong impressions. There must have been a mistake about that "old gentleman" being pastor of a Methodist church for "forty years;" there is not a minister in the world who has been pastor of a Methodist church forty years. Again, as to our church discarding the pope, the mass and the confession, we never had such in our church to discard. That "your religion is only a dry prayer, a hymn that is neither good poetry nor good music, and a sermon, sometimes bad, sometimes middling, and seldom good," may be the personal opinion of Rev. O'Neill, but there are several million people who might have a different opinion. As to the assertion that we have "no substitute for confession and no instrument of reform," am glad to say we have the Father, the Son, the Holy Spirit and the Scriptures. That our people are "not sticking" to the church and not supporting it and that we are "dwindling away" only requires a reference to statistics to refute it.

Respectfully,
J. F. HUMPHREY.

At Shamrock Inn, last Friday night, J. W. J. C. arrived in sight; the charming hostess laughed with glee, when she received the tin pan bee; the evening passed with merry jest and lunch was served---the very best; the guests their feet then needed rest, and took their flight to Eagles' Nest.

IMPROVEMENTS TO THE WATER SYSTEM.

A reporter of the NEWS visited Verdugo Canyon one day this week and noted the work of development and conservation being carried on there by the Verdugo Canyon Water Company. Since the Verdugo Rancho passed out of the possession of the Verdugo family, conditions have been very much improved as regards the canyon water which is the main supply of Glendale and Tropico. Under the former owners it was almost impossible for the company to keep its ditches open and a great deal of trouble was experienced with Chinese and other tenants. The present owners of the property, however, allow the company free access to the property for development work and much is being done in that direction. 3000 feet of 12-inch cement pipe has been manufactured on the ground and is now being put in place to carry the stream that comes down from the springs which lie northeasterly of the old ranch house. Where this pipe line runs through water-bearing land the joints are not cemented and every fifth two-foot joint is in two sections so that the top can be lifted off and any obstruction, roots, etc., in the pipe, may be readily cleared out. One ditch made by the Verdugos above the tract where the stream rises had been made so as to cut off considerable of the natural supply of the springs; this ditch has been tapped and the result is about twenty inches additional water. Another ditch on the eastern corner was used in the same manner and the water from that will be also conducted into the company's pipe line, making a still further addition to the supply. The stream where it flows in the natural channel through Verdugo Park will not be interfered with, but will be protected from pollution by wire fences and possibly by a covering of wire screen.

OIL FIRE AT BURBANK.

A dense cloud of smoke and flame in the direction of Burbank was noticeable from Glendale last Thursday forenoon. It was learned later that the store house of the Standard Oil Company and two oil cars had been burned. Three tanks containing about 8000 gallons of oil were saved. The fire started in a box car on the switch and was probably the handiwork of tramps.

Miss Harriet Meyers will entertain the Thursday Afternoon club at her home, "Beth-Eden," on Central avenue, Thursday.

Guy E. Rice, who departed for Porterville recently has concluded to remain in that northern city and engage in business.

Miss Ada Richardson of Santa Paula was the guest of her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Richardson, the past week.

Sergeant Daniel Perettie of Ft. McDowell spent a portion of this week as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Lamont of San Fernando road.

Mr. E. G. Angel of Downey spent some time last week visiting his daughter, Miss Angel, who is staying at the Methodist parsonage on Central avenue.

Mrs. Fred C. Richardson and her mother, Mrs. K. A. Wilson entertained the Woman's Missionary society of the First Presbyterian church at the home of the former, Monday afternoon.

Mr. Hasford of Los Angeles started the erection of a small abode in the Hough tract this week. Later Mr. Hasford will construct a pretty modern residence on the front portion of the lot.

In the future N. P. Banks Post will meet the first Friday of each month instead of the first Saturday. This change was deemed advisable to permit the Burbank members attending, as Friday was a more convenient day.

Davenport Black report the sale of the old Wilkinson place on the corner of San Fernando road and Wilkinson court this week to F. Bacon, a resident of this place. Also a lot in the Oak Knoll tract to Dr. E. F. Tholen, a local physician.

Improvement work is being done along Central avenue this week. The big grader, is being driven over the road and the chuck holes and ruts are being filled and the bumps lowered. When this improvement work is completed the thorougfare will be in fine condition.

Misses Freda and Ruby Borthick very pleasantly entertained several of their friends at their home on Parke avenue Tuesday evening. Well-known games caused hours to pass very quickly. The guests included Misses May and Carrie Cornwell, Blanche Davenport, Messrs. Albert Cornwell, Ray Borthick.

Mrs. A. M. Watson entertained the Sunshine Society at her home on Brand boulevard, Tuesday afternoon. A comfort was made and a number of useful articles made for the maternity cottage in Los Angeles. Much interest is manifested in this branch of benevolent work.

The Ladies' Aid of the local Presbyterian church held an all-day meeting at the home of Mrs. W. H. Bullis on Central avenue Tuesday of this week. At this meeting it was decided to hold the bazaar for which they have been working for the past several months, on the evening of December 3. At this time a supper will also be served at 6 o'clock by the ladies, and the proceeds of the entire affair will go to the church. Both the supper and bazaar will be held at Logan's hall. At the meeting Tuesday quite a number of the ladies were present and time passed very enjoyably.

Last Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. John Parker entertained a number of their friends in the summer house of the Conrad residence on Glendale avenue. Those present constituted the crowd which were together so often at the different beaches the past summer, and the affair proved very enjoyable. It was a Hallowe'en and "Tacky" party. The enclosure was decorated with constalks, witches, black cats and other suggestive ornaments. Each guest present represented some popular character, and this alone caused an unlimited amount of mirth. Supper was served at 7 o'clock, after which the evening of games followed.

MRS. W. A. HOUGH ENTERTAINS.

A very pleasant affair this week was the chicken dinner which was given by Mrs. W. A. Hough at her home on Central avenue Wednesday noon. The table was artistically decorated with the colors of the Tropico Thursday Afternoon club—green and red—and the hours passed most pleasantly. The guests included Mrs. Clyde Carmack, Mrs. John Hobbs, Mrs. U. H. Webster, Mrs. E. J. Morgan, Mrs. Andrew Stevenson, Mrs. J. A. Logan, Mrs. W. H. Bullis.

TROPICO METHODIST ITEMS.

The second of the series of sermons, entitled "Choosing a Wife," will be delivered by the pastor at the evening service tomorrow. The morning sermon will be from "The Bible."

Mrs. Chobe will render a vocal solo at the evening service tomorrow. She will be accompanied by Miss Belle Doyle on the clarinet. At this service and also at the Epworth League the church orchestra numbering five pieces will dispense music.

Death of Joseph Marple, Sr.

Joseph Marple, Sr., died at his home on Park avenue, Tropico, Thursday afternoon at 2:35 o'clock, of dropsy. For more than six years Mr. Marple had been ill, but not until the past three months was he confined to his home. Several times during his confinement he was at the point of death, but, under careful treatment, rallied until yesterday. His family was at the bedside as he passed away. From early morning Thursday he was in a semi-conscious state except at short intervals.

At about 20 minutes after 2 Mrs. Marple, seeing that the sufferer was nearing the end, called the family to the sick room. He did not recognize anyone in his last moments. As his life was passing out the family, no one else being present, knelt in prayer. Before leaving he seemed to come somewhat to himself, then a smile passed across his face and it was over. The end came so quietly and peacefully that the time of its arrival was unknown.

Mr. Marple was quite popular in this valley. He was an active member of the local Methodist church of this place, and for years has been a tireless worker for the cause of prohibition. At the time of his death he was 58 years and 6 months old, and had lived in this valley six years. He was a native of England. For the past three years he had been in the Mantel and Tile business in Los Angeles.

The funeral services will be held from the Tropico Methodist church on Palmer avenue tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, the Rev. W. C. Botkin, pastor of the church, assisted by Rev. H. Goodsell, pastor of the Methodist church of Edendale officiating. Miss Evalena Ayers will assist with a vocal solo.

He is survived by a widow, one daughter and four sons.

RECEPTION TO TROPICO PASTOR.

A reception was tendered by the members and friends of the Methodist church of this place to their new pastor, Rev. W. C. Botkin and wife, who come to this place from Los Angeles, where Mr. Botkin was for some time assistant pastor of the Westlake M. E. church. The reception was held in the church Friday evening and proved to be a very enjoyable occasion.

The early part of the evening was taken up with a musical and literary program. The heads of all the departments of the church and Sunday school welcomed the new pastor. Following the program some time was spent in conversation and games in the parlors, at the conclusion of which refreshments were served.

The people of this place are very much taken with the new pastor, although he has been but a short while in the community, and they believe that during the coming year much work for good will be done under his leadership.

ANNIVERSARY HONORED.

Amid smiles and surrounded by his family and a few friends, Mr. B. S. West celebrated his eightieth birthday anniversary at his home on Central avenue Wednesday with a charmingly appointed dinner party arranged by his wife.

A large bowl of the sweetest roses grown in Father West's rose garden formed the center piece of the table.

The guests bidden to break bread and mingle in the congratulations with Father West and Mrs. West were Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Stephenson, Mr. and Mrs. John Hobbs, Mr. and Mrs. J. Arthur Logan, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Rice, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bullis, Misses Katherine Hobbs, Dorothy Hobbs and Mary Logan. Messrs. C. C. West, Jay Rice and Dwight Stephenson.

SUGGESTIVE QUESTIONS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Rev. Dr. Linscott for the International Newspaper Bible Study Club.

Nov. 14th, 1909.

(Copyright, 1909, by Rev. T. S. Linscott, D.D.)

Paul a Prisoner in Rome. Acts xxviii:11-31.

Golden Text—I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ; for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth. Romans i.16.

Verses 11-13—Where are the places located, which are mentioned in these verses? (This question must be answered in writing by members of the club.)

How long did they stay at Melita after their shipwreck on that island?

Whicl to the average man, is the hardest thing to do; to wait, or to go on; to be compelled to rest, or be compelled to work, to have patience or to hurry?

Is it as sinful to work when you ought to rest, as it is to rest when you ought to work?

Here are two ships from Alexandria and bound for Italy, the one Paul sailed in and the "Castor and Pollux" and both apparently were compelled to put into Melita; one was wrecked by so doing, while the other landed and wintered in safety; was it providence, or chance, or skill; or any other power, that caused the wreck of the one ship and the safety of the other?

Two young men, of apparently the same ability, go into the same kind of business, under similar circumstances, one of whom fails and the other succeeds—how do you account for it?

Verse 14 — In Puteoli Paul found Christian brethren, and tarried with them seven days—which, to-day, answering from actual experience, forms the closest and most practical bond of union and fellowship, when travelling, members of the same church, or members of the same fraternal society?

Verse 15 — What relation in life is there more fraught with blessings, and that imparts more "courage," than true Christian fellowship?

Verse 16—Real Christians are found in all trades and professions, and among the rich and the poor, and may be some are in prison; now is it invariably the case that, like Paul here, they get more comfort out of their circumstances than do their fellows?

Verses 17-22—When we are as badly treated as the Jews treated Paul, in his own country, is it either wise or profitable, or politic, to speak of our enemies in as strong language as the facts warrant; or should we out of loving hearts mitigate their offence all we can, as Paul does here?

Christians were in those days much slandered, and were "everywhere spoken against"; are real Christians still spoken against?

Christianity is now becoming popular, is that an advantage or disadvantage?

Should we ever allow ourselves to speak against, or be prejudiced against any "sect" or society of which we have not got accurate or first hand knowledge?

Verse 23—What points would Paul be apt to emphasize concerning the "kingdom of God?"

Verse 24—Would those who believed Paul's testimony, be the religiously honest men, and those who disbelieved, the religiously dishonest men, or was it a mere matter of evidence and of the intellect?

Verses 25-29—If a man lives in sin, and his moral nature is deadened and perverted so that he does not recognize the truth, is he as guilty as a man who deliberately rejects it?

Is it a law of God that sin deadens the conscience and perverts the judgment, hence, can a man living in any kind of sin, trust his judgment on personal, moral and spiritual questions?

Verses 30-31—Should every Christian home be used for preaching and teaching the kingdom of God?
